

Baby is safe in ONEG's PLAYPEN

MARGINAL COLUMN

SOUL-SEARCHING is not a strong point with dictators; deliberate tension is carefully maintained. The result is not conduct to it. This, coupled with an obsessive preoccupation with imperialism, must account for the violence of this pursuit among Arab intellectuals in general and those of Nasser's Egypt in particular. Egyptians of intellect, from Hussein to Husseini, are through Salama Mousa down to the younger generation, talk of nothing but colonialism, Western aggression and the wiping out of Israel. Dr. Taha Hussein, for more than three decades a staunch advocate of Westernization and a man who considers Egypt to be more a part of Europe than of Africa or the Arab world, recently made this statement to a correspondent: "I am not interested of what has been happening in Hungary because I have only seen the reports in the British and French press and they are not trustworthy."

IT is therefore something of a surprise to come across an essay by a young Egyptian intellectual who now teaches English at an American university, in which an evaluation is attempted of Egypt's fortunes and prospects without resort to invective or rhetoric. The essay, "Egyptian Retrospect: A Partial View in Changing Perspectives," by H. H. Hassan, appears in the latest issue of "The American Scholar." The relevant sections are introduced by two statements. The first states that Arab countries now run "the great danger of judging all modes of individual behavior, all forms of knowledge and all trends of culture by one, and only one, standard: national need and national prestige."

FROM the beginning of history the writer explains, Egypt has attracted the unsolicited interest of the major powers of the world. The people, the culture, the Arab, Turkish, Albanian, Circassian, Coptic, Greek, Italian, French, Sudanese and Jewish strains, have not always known the cultural or spiritual solidarity they are now reported to possess. Some came from more arid lands and more straitened circumstances; they came for profit and stayed. Some came as conquerors, and some as dispossession. For many, the cultural and geographical homes refused to coincide in time. The melting pot, being too small, failed to amalgamate. The result of all this was the creation of a somewhat uniform lower and middle class, dominantly Arabic in culture; a community of traders, descended from southern European countries, largely self-sufficient; and a landed upper class, of mixed Turkish and Egyptian ancestry, fairly cosmopolitan.

THE last group gave rise to a generation whose first language was French or sometimes Turkish or English, a generation which moved nimbly among two cultures, one native and archaic, the other specifically European, both superimposed on a metropolis like Cairo or Alexandria, and yet lying decades, perhaps even centuries, apart. The course of Egyptian affairs will in part depend on the manner in which this knowledge group will respond to a new conception of civil responsibility.

EGYPT has recently experienced a necessary, crucial and controversial political change that may alter its destiny into a new mould. Mr. Hassan goes on to say, "The English are no longer there to tamper, however distantly, with its life, and they are not even there to take the blame for everything that may go amiss." "England has left a legacy of hate and a legacy of the terrible flame of nationalism. The fault may be laid to the fraudulent politics which reigned in another age, to the stresses of our own divisive age, or simply to the undeveloped human heart. No one can afford to be the man who surrenders before every other duty shows the same spirit as the man who surrenders to the right to the State. They both deny that right is superior to authority."

THOUGH Mr. Hassan's sane voice is bound to be lost in a wilderness of blind fanaticism, one cannot suppress a feeling of hope that some few other Egyptians will digest his article. Jerusalem, April 14, 1957.

MAO AND CHOU TO VISIT USSR, POLAND WARSAW, Saturday (UP).—China's leaders, Chairman Mao Tse-tung and Premier Chou En-lai, are to visit Moscow and Warsaw next September.

There is only one genuine AMA SHEMEN'S AMA

SUNDAY, APRIL 14, 1957

THE JERUSALEM POST

PRICE: 140 PRUTA VOL. XXXIII, No. 8786

Rovell Aled LATEST ORIGINAL FASHIONS IN KNITWEAR AND JERSEY SUITS

UN Chief Views Hungarian Offer As Too Late

NEW YORK, Saturday (Reuter).—Hungary yesterday agreed to allow Mr. Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. Secretary-General, to visit Budapest as the General Assembly requested last November.

Mr. Hammarskjold planned to go to Budapest last December after discussing with the Hungarian Foreign Minister, Mr. Horvath. But the Budapest Government subsequently repudiated Mr. Horvath's arrangements.

It was learned, however, that Mr. Hammarskjold had no plans to accept the Hungarian invitation. He was understood to feel that the time had passed when a visit would be useful.

A special committee of the Assembly is due to report on the situation in Hungary as gleaned from refugees and others who have been interviewed in this country and in Europe. The report, expected before the end of the month, has been completely removed.

'Battle of Algiers' Won, French Say

ALGER, Saturday (Reuter).—M. Robert Lacoste, French Minister Residing in Algeria, said today that the battle of Algiers had been won by the French.

A grenade thrown into a cinema last night killed three persons and wounded 25 in Ain Temochement, western Algeria.

Security forces killed 25 insurgents in the past 24 hours. Fourteen of them were killed and three captured in the mountains north-east of Biskra in the south.

16 Injured in Jaffa Grandstand Collapse

JAFFA, Saturday.—Sixteen persons were injured, six of them seriously, when they fell from an uncompleted grandstand which gave way on the Hapoel Grounds here. The incident occurred during the interval between the two National League games in the presence of 7,000 fans.

Ten of the injured were treated on the spot, and the rest were taken to the Hadaassah Hospital, Tel Aviv, and the Donolo Hospital, Jaffa. Late tonight it was reported from the hospitals that the injured were out of danger. Most of the injured were under 18.

U.S. Gets Amended Cairo Plan for Canal

NEW YORK, Saturday (Reuter).—The U.S. Government has received "a revised Egyptian programme of operation of the Suez Canal" according to a Washington dispatch printed in the late editions of "The New York Times" today.

The dispatch said that details of the programme were not available.

Washington sources, meanwhile, said that U.S. officials have not given up hope that Col. Abdul Nasser may still be persuaded to modify his proposals for operating the Canal.

But other Western diplomats who have had access to information coming from the U.S.-Egyptian talks in Cairo said Abdul Nasser had apparently not made any concessions and still stuck to his formula for running the Canal solely as an Egyptian concern.

Diplomats said the talks between Mr. Raymond Hare, the U.S. Ambassador, and Abdul Nasser would probably end next week. If the talks are unsuccessful, the next step would be to refer the matter to the Security Council. Britain and France are reported in favour of such action.

See End of Talks

See End of Talks. Diplomats said the talks between Mr. Raymond Hare, the U.S. Ambassador, and Abdul Nasser would probably end next week. If the talks are unsuccessful, the next step would be to refer the matter to the Security Council. Britain and France are reported in favour of such action.

French Dissatisfied

A French Foreign Ministry spokesman said in Paris today that the French Government was dissatisfied with the progress of the U.S.-Egyptian talks.

The spokesman said the French Government had encouraged the U.S. to begin these talks, he added, and has been receiving reports on the negotiations.

Japan Protests Soviet Tests

TOKYO, Saturday (UP).—Japan instructed its Embassy in Moscow last night to protest against the Soviet nuclear tests of April 3, 6, and 10. The protest was made in the form of a note to the Soviet Embassy in Tokyo.

Meanwhile, the Japanese H-bomb envoy, Mr. Matsushita, left the Hague today for Rome where he will attempt to gain the Pope's backing for his country's campaign to stop nuclear tests.

From Hanoi it is learned that the ushers stopped entry into that part of the grounds, but the enthusiasts slipped in through the back door.

UNEF Forming Mixed Patrols With Egyptians

By JESSE ZEL LURIE, Jerusalem Post Correspondent. NEW YORK, Saturday.—Major-General E. L. M. Burns, Commander of UNEF will arrange for mixed U.N.-Arab border patrols in which U.N. forces would be subordinated to shoot except in self-defence.

Arab members of the patrols are supposed to shoot to prevent infiltration, but past experience has shown that trigger-happy Arab soldiers will point their rifles in the other direction—towards Israel.

These facts emerge from the writer of denials and counter-denials coming as a result of reports by Joseph Alsop, "New York Herald Tribune" columnist, from Gaza. A U.N. spokesman denied that any concessions were made to Abdul Nasser, the columnist said yesterday. But Mr. Alsop today reiterated that the mixed patrols were demanded by the Egyptian ruler.

Alsop added that Abdul Nasser is now demanding further concessions which "Mr. Hammarskjold is unable to grant."

The U.N. spokesman said the fact that U.N. troops are forbidden to shoot except in self-defence was not new; it was announced when UNEF entered Egypt.

Neutral observers said today that the only way to have the 2,000 UNEF troops in the Gaza Strip form an effective anti-infiltration force for Israel to give permission to a joint U.N.-Israel patrol on her side of the border.

In Israel, the question of the mixed patrols was not a new one. It was raised in a meeting with Mr. Hammarskjold, held at the request of the Israeli Government. Mr. Eban said the chief objective of the conference was to emphasize the Government's interest in receiving an Egyptian reply on the question of infiltration.

Suez Issue Mentioned

The conference was understood to have included a number of other relevant topics, including freedom of passage through the Suez Canal and functioning of UNEF.

ISRAEL FOLLOWING SAUDI STATEMENTS

Jerusalem Post Reporter. Israel is following with "close interest" the Saudi Arabian statements that the Straits of Tiran are Saudi Arabian national waters and not international, the Foreign Ministry spokesman said yesterday in Jerusalem.

JORDAN ALLEGES ISRAEL ATTACK

AMMAN, Saturday (Reuter).—The Jordan Army command issued in an official statement today that four Israeli soldiers opened fire at a Jordanian soldier yesterday near Hibilan village south of Kalkilya on the Israel-Jordan border.

NASSER MAY VISIT CHINA IN SUMMER

CAIRO, Saturday (Reuter).—Abdul Nasser may visit China this summer, according to Hassan Ragab, Egyptian Ambassador in Peking, quoted today by the New China News Agency.

Nabulsi's Man Forms Cabinet As More Syrian Troops Enter Jordan

Meir: More Foreign Troops In Jordan Would Alter Our Stand

TEL AVIV, Saturday.—As long as the present disturbances in Jordan remained an internal affair, Israel would not interfere, Foreign Minister Golda Meir told a public meeting here today. But in the event that foreign forces attempt to alter the status quo, our attitude would also change, she said.

Speaking in Beit Ha'am, Mr. Meir gave an intent overflow audience a two-hour survey of Israel's political achievements following "the lesson of October, 1956."

"None can any longer ignore this country when planning Middle East policies," the Foreign Minister said. "The world had learned once again that both peace and war were indivisible."

The re-entry of Egyptian forces into the Gaza Strip endangered Israel, and, moreover, was contrary to promises given us, she said. "We had been profoundly disappointed by the lack of action of the U.N." who knew what had been agreed upon yet "let the Egyptians in again without having the authority to do so."

"Israel was prepared to go to court to clarify the silence of Mr. Hammarskjold (U.N. Secretary-General) who went on, 'if he feared that the return of the Egyptians was unavoidable, then he should have said so.'"

Israel Not Isolated

Contrary to local public opinion, Israel has not been isolated at the U.N., and apart from "one state," many delegations had expressed their sympathy by abstaining from voting, Mrs. Meir declared.

The situation in the U.N. Assembly had been caused by the stand of the Afro-Asian bloc, which called itself neutral, but was far from being so.

Calling for a policy whereby these nations would not only stand up but also stand with Israel, Mrs. Meir declared, "Israel holds out a friendly hand to the Afro-Asian nations, and desires to establish reciprocal relations with them."

Jordanians Fire At Israel Patrol

Fire was opened yesterday morning from an Arab Legion position in the vicinity of Tulikarm on an Israeli Army patrol inside Israel territory. The patrol returned the fire. There were no casualties among our forces.

On Friday morning, Jordanians opened fire at a tractor which was crossing the fields near the Armistice line in the vicinity of Neve Yamin, east of Kfar Saba, the spokesman announced.

A train which passed the area at the time was also attacked by Jordanian fire. The Israeli patrol returned the fire and managed to save the tractor and the driver. There were no casualties among our forces.

A marauder was killed by an Israeli patrol in the vicinity of Nir Yitzhak last Thursday night. The Army spokesman announced on Friday. The man was one of a group of three marauders who had crossed the border from the Gaza Strip. The patrol opened fire when they refused orders to halt. The other two men escaped across the border.

Hussein Wants Syrians Out

Abdul Halim Nimr, who held the Defence and Interior Ministries in the Nabulsi Cabinet dismissed by King Hussein on Wednesday, was reported last night to have formed a new government at the King's request.

Possibility Seen Of Jordan's Partition

Post Diplomatic Correspondent. If Jordan should be partitioned by her Arab sister states there will probably be nobody left to lodge a protest with the U.N., and without a formal protest by at least a rump government, U.N. action is not possible. King Hussein now appears isolated, and cannot count on certain support in any quarter.

The U.S. has made its attitude in the matter plain to those concerned. It would prefer to have Jordan continue as at present and avoid all upheaval. But if the division of the empire is carried out more or less by agreement—though not necessarily the agreement of Jordan itself—the U.S. Department would see no cause for great alarm.

It is not believed, either, that Egypt is pressing for the dismemberment of Jordan, from which she is unable to benefit for lack of a common frontier, for she is not anxious to see Syria strengthened by a sizeable increase in territory. It therefore continues to be possible that the Jordanian shell will remain, though it may fill gradually with non-Jordanian troops and agents.

Israel Takes Serious View

An extremely serious view is taken by Israel. Since the abortive partition coup last October, immediately before the Sinai Campaign, Syrian troops have been in Jordan. Up to the present these have stayed east of the Jordan River and have not entered the western section of the country which formed part of Palestine under the Mandate. It is difficult to see how Israel could acquiesce in the presence in Tulikarm and the Jerusalem Old City of unreliable, vindictive Syrian troops under the orders of an unstable, Soviet-dominated Government. It is almost equally difficult to see how the Nabulsi-Hebron districts "west" of the Jordan could be left to the sole control of Palestinian forces if Jordan, as a whole, came under the domination of Syria and Saudi Arabia.

In the latter event, Israel might prefer to see the region become semi-autonomous, with possibly an outlet through Haifa.

Anti-West Demonstrations

Prior to the announcement of Nimr's new Cabinet, anti-Western demonstrations took place in Amman, Nabulsi, Hebron, and in most cities on the western bank of the Jordan River where the majority of Nabulsi's supporters are located. The demonstrators, who were orderly, shouted slogans such as "Down with the West" and "Down with the Zionists."

AFTER MIDNIGHT

The Soviet Union carried out a further nuclear test on April 12, the fourth in 16 days. It was announced last night in London and Washington.

THE WEIZMANN INSTITUTE OF SCIENCE

Rehovot. Professor Herman F. Mark, Director, Polymer Research Institute, Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, New York, U.S.A., will lecture on "Recent Advances in Plastics, Rubbers and Fibres" at 430 this afternoon in the Michael and Anna Wix Auditorium of Yad Chaim Weizmann at Rehovot, Tel at 4 p.m.

All those interested in these subjects are cordially invited to attend.

"Hugim" Secondary School, Haifa

Registration of New Students for the School Year 1957/58. PRIMARY CLASSES — 3 Rehovot, Hader, Hazeram. Primary Classes 4 — 4 (Fourth — Sixth School Years).

SECONDARY CLASSES — Rehovot, Hader, Hazeram. Secondary Classes 1 — 2 (Seventh and Eighth School Years). 14 Rehovot, Hader, Hazeram. Secondary Classes 3 — 4 (Ninth — Twelfth School Years). Departments: Humanities, Mathematics, Physics, Biology.

REGISTRATION — will commence on Tuesday, April 23, 1957, and pupils with good school records will be admitted to all classes (except the upper Secondary Class). A special class for those who finished the 11th class of primary school will be opened.

Because of the limited number of vacancies for new pupils, interested parents are advised to contact the School Registrar immediately. The second term school report is required for registration.

OFFICE HOURS — Mr. Carmel, 14 Rehovot, Hazeram, Sundays, Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Fridays 10 a.m. — 12 noon. Hader, 3 Rehovot, Hazeram, Mondays, Thursdays 10 a.m. — 12 noon. Sundays, Tuesdays 4 — 5 p.m.

NOTICE With the end of the strike. OUR STORES ARE OPEN again as from this morning. AND WE SHALL BE GLAD TO SERVE OUR CLIENTS FOR THE HOLIDAYS.

Another look at the Sinai Campaign but this time it's something different. The story of 1948 history-making days, not in text form, not in pictures, but in 62 Dosh Cartoons. The price of HAGADAT SINAI is 350 Pruta. Available at every news-stand. No coupons, no registration. Published by "SEFER HA'AVIV" in 30,000 copies.

There is only one genuine AMA SHEMEN'S AMA. The Management. OREGON VITAKON

Hadassah

WELCOMES YOU TO ISRAEL

Call Our Clubs For Overseas Visitors :

JERUSALEM 4061
TEL AVIV 23239
HAIFA 4878

AND ARRANGE TO VISIT OUR PROJECTS

Social & Personal

The President and Mrs. Ben-Zvi on Friday received Mr. Israel Shohat, who presented them with a first-edition copy of "Hachomer". They received the Reverend and Mrs. S.H. Morris, of Manchester.

Mrs. Chaim Weizmann entertained to lunch on Friday Mrs. and Mrs. Isaac Wolfson, Lady Simon Marks, Prof. Herman Mark, Prof. Aaron Katzir, Dr. Haim Sheba and Mr. and Mrs. M. Weisgal.

The Foreign Minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, on Friday received the Danish Minister, Mr. Hugo Hergel, and the Swedish Minister, Mr. Osten Lundberg, in separate audiences.

Chief Rabbi and Mrs. Israel Brodie of London, last week visited for two days the Youth Aliya villages of Yemin Orde, Ramat Hadassah, Kfar Habor Hadassah and Hodayot-Lavi.

Mr. Rahamin Kalantar, Deputy Mayor of Jerusalem, has left for London and Paris on behalf of the Bolekharan Community in Israel. While in London, he will attend the World Conference of Bolekharan and will present a Bolekharan gift from Mayor Oshon Agron.

Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Rubin gave a cocktail party yesterday evening in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Wolfson and Mr. and Mrs. Israel Shohat. The large number of guests included the Honorable Mr. Lebor, Mr. M. Namir, members of the Diplomatic Corps headed by the French Ambassador, M. P.E. Gilbert, the Mayor of Jerusalem and Mr. G. Agron, and the Chief of Staff and Mrs. Dayan.

Mr. Harry Landy, Co-Chairman of the Mirabai-Hapoel Hamizrabi Federation of Britain, Mrs. Landy, Chairman of Mirabai Women of Britain, and Mrs. Dorothy Skene, legal advisor to the International League of Jewish Women, visited Bar-Ilan University on Friday and were greeted by its President, Dr. Pinchas Churgin.

Mr. Yosef Ami is to lecture on "Automation" at 1:30 p.m. at the Hebrew Rotary Club in Kiryat Motzkin.

The official opening of the Duty and Tax Free Shop at Lydda Airport took place last week in the presence of representatives of Government Departments. All passengers, including Israeli citizens, are obliged to purchase after termination of the Passport and Customs Control against payment in any foreign currency thereby saving about 40 to 70 per cent. A great selection of articles is offered, such as American and English cigarettes, liquor, French perfumes, Swiss watches, cameras and films, Israeli souvenirs and "Market" jewelry. (Advt.)

Where to go

TODAY

JERUSALEM

Exhibition at the Department of Antiquities, 20 Rehov Shimon Hatzadik, New Museum, Friday, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Educational exhibit for arrangement of local collections from the excavations at Khirbet Sheikh Ali and El-Malukha. 9-11 a.m.

Conquest of the Desert, Permanent Exhibition, Daily from 10-11 a.m. On Friday from 10-11 only closed on Saturday.

2) Selected Acquisitions, 1946-1956, 2nd Floor, 10-11 a.m. Themes by Ben-Zvi, New York, Bessie, 9-11 a.m.

Exhibition of various Hebrew University documents, Administration Building, Givat Ram, Open weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

1) Jerusalem Artists Spring Exhibition, 2) Applied Arts and Crafts, Artists House, 10-11 a.m. Paintings and Drawings by Zippora Ben-Zvi, Chana Ben-Zvi, Israel Painters, Nara Art Gallery, 9-11 a.m. 10-11 a.m.

Archaeological Exhibition of recent finds from Beit El, Beit El-Har, Masada and Caesarea, Abraham Masar Institute of Jewish Studies, Hebrew University, Givat Ram, Open weekdays, 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

3) Film Shows: Israel, Prime, daily Keren Ha-Yedid Hall, 11:30 a.m.

4) Yehuda University Conducted Tour, 10 a.m. Administration Bldg., New University Campus, (Conducted tour in Hebrew, Sunday and Tuesday, 11 a.m. to 1 p.m.)

TEL AVIV

1) Tourist Service, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

2) Exhibitions: Tel Aviv Museum Annual Exhibition of "Israel Painters and Sculptors" 10-11 a.m.

3) Theatre: National "Anna Frank" (for multiplicity workers) 8 p.m. Mordechai, 8 "Dream Girl" New Hall 8

RAMAT GAN

1) Theatre: "Schindler's List" in the Witches, Rama, 8:30 p.m.

GERESA

1) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

2) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

3) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

4) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

5) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

6) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

7) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

8) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

9) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

10) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

11) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

12) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

13) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

14) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

15) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

16) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

17) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

18) Theatre: "Anna Christie" 8

LAW REPORT

The Jerusalem Post April 14, 1957

In the Supreme Court

Sitting as Court of Criminal Appeal

Before the President Justice Cheshin, Justices Silberg and Sussman.

Yehoshua Kahlon, v. The Attorney-General (Cr. A. 14/56).

Road Not Guilty Of Traffic Offence

The Supreme Court allowed an appeal against a judgment of the Jerusalem District Court, sitting as a court of appeal, delivered on November 28, 1956 (Cr. A. 14/56).

On October 4, 1956, Yehoshua Kahlon was driving a bus on the road between Beit El and Ramat Gan.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

The police had charged Kahlon with an offence against Rule 31(a) of the Road Transport (Regulation of Traffic) Rules, 1956, which states that when two motor vehicles moving in opposite directions on a road are approaching each other, the driver of the vehicle shall give way to the vehicle of the opposite direction.

U.S. Diplomats To Study Hebrew

WASHINGTON, Saturday (INA).—Israel will be recognized on a par with other Middle East nations as an area of specialized study for U.S. diplomats and consular officers, it was made known yesterday.

The Foreign Service Institute of the State Department will recommend the study of Hebrew, and officers specializing on Israel will study at an appropriate institution in the U.S. The disclosure was made by Deputy Under-Secretary of State Loy Henderson in a communication to Congressman Leonard Farnstein.

The latter learned that State Department officials assigned to Israel were required to take a year of orientation training under an Arab teacher at the Foreign Service Institute branch attached to the University of Beirut.

There is no provision for the study of Hebrew on the list of historic languages taught to foreign service officers. Israel is not included as an area of specialization. Young diplomats are made familiar mostly with Arab countries and Arab viewpoints. Mr. Farnstein brought this matter to the attention of the State Department and it became the subject of a number of discussions with Mr. Henderson.

Mr. Henderson's note said that Hebrew would become the fifth language of specialization in the Middle East area. The other four are Arabic, Greek, Turkish and Persian. The new undertaking will begin in the immediate future.

It was learned from Government sources that the young men to be trained in Hebrew and Israel specialization will probably not include Jews. As a rule, Jews are not assigned to Israel by the U.S. as foreign service officers.

Modern Ovens to Bake 35,000 Loaves Daily

HAIFA, Saturday.—An IL-100,000 modern oven, made in Israel, which is able to bake 1,400 loaves an hour, has been installed at the Kats Bakery here. It is the biggest in the country and will work on heavy fuel.

A second similar oven will be built and another IL-50,000 was ordered for a building to house both. A loan of IL150,000 has been allotted for the purpose from the development budget.

Together the two ovens will be able to bake 35,000 loaves a day. Completely automatic, the ovens are fed dough at the other.

Oppose Bat Galim Bldg. For Youth Centre

HAIFA, Saturday.—The General Zionist Municipal Councilors have appealed to the Minister of Interior to quash the purchase by the Municipality of a building in Bat Galim, to be used as a youth centre.

The Councilors stated that the Council had approved the purchase of the building, for nearly IL70,000, in order to open a school there. But, at the last Council session, Mayor Khoushy had announced that it was "unsuitable" for a school, and would be used as a youth centre.

Most of the small advertisers in Israel's daily papers are those who grew up in the newspaper-reading countries of Europe. Mr. Blumenstein cannot count how often he has had to explain to the uninitiated the advantages of advertising under an anonymous number instead of giving name and address. He believes that classified and pre-paid advertisements have come to stay, to bring buyers and sellers together, a modern successor to the market place and market criers of the past.

This type of newspaper business floats on the waves of mass immigration. "It's mainly the newcomers who need and sell things, and announcements in the press are the quickest and most effective method."

Today's Postbag

The Weather

FORECAST: Haifa	A	B	C	D
Jerusalem	20	16	27	28
Tiberias	17	13	20	21
Haifa Port	17	13	20	21
Natanya	18	14	21	22
Tel Aviv	18	14	21	22
Tel Aviv Port	18	14	21	22
Lydda Airport	18	14	21	22
Jerusalem	20	16	27	28
Beersheba	18	14	21	22
Eilat	18	14	21	22
Sidon	20	16	27	28

(A) Humidity at 5 p.m. 81
Minimum temp. 13 Maximum temp. expected today.

ARRIVALS

Mr. Y. Serlin, M.K., from a General Zionist Party conference in Argentina and from South America (by T.V.A.).

Ray-Aluf Mordechai M. Maklef, Managing Director of the Dead Sea Potash works, from a fortnight's European tour on company business (by El Al).

Sgan-Aluf Haim Gaon, from Brussels, after a ten-day visit on behalf of the U.J.A. (by El Al).

Major Malcolm Hay, the author, and Mrs. Hay, former mother-in-law of General Wingate, of Scotland, Aberdeen, for a month's visit.

Mr. Marcus Sieff, Chairman of the Weizmann Institute Fund Executive in London, for a week's visit (by Cyprus Airways).

Mr. J. Model of Haifa, from a business trip.

DEPARTURES

Mrs. Dora Goldstein, Honorary Treasurer of the (British) Federation of Women Zionists (WIZO) after a two-week visit.

Mr. M. Caspi for London, on business by Cyprus Airways.

THE TEL AVIV Municipality on Friday signed a contract with the Alliance Israélite Universelle for the building this year of a Lycee Française on a 28-dunam plot opposite the Ramat Aviv Hotel. The building will cost IL5m.

FOODSTUFFS valued at IL2,000 were stolen on Friday from the central grocery in Kiryat Borchov, Tel Aviv.

FOR STEALING a cow worth IL1,000 from the shed of Moshe Schwarz at Tel Hanan last August, Musa Sud, 21, of Arab Taboun village, was sent to prison for seven months by Haifa District Court Judge E. Slonim last week. The cow was recovered and returned to the owner.

Arson Bid in Tel Aviv Municipality Office

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — An attempt to fire the Engineering Department offices of the Municipality in Rehov Spinoza was foiled on Thursday afternoon. Clerks who saw smoke coming from one of the rooms put out the fire. It is learned from the police that a young man had poured benzine on files in a room on the first floor of the building and then thrown a burning rag onto them. Only slight damage was caused. No arrests have yet been made. (Itim)

JORDAN

(Continued from Page 1)

ed slogans against the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Nabulsi had reported in almost uninterrupted meetings since the resignation of his Cabinet. They were said to have remained firm on their decision of Thursday not to participate in the governments of the earlier Premiers-designate, U.P. reported from Amman that Nabulsi himself had declared he would not take part in any future cabinet, even one headed by Nimr, although the latter's success was interpreted as indicating continuation of Nabulsi's policy of "positive neutrality" as borrowed from the Egyptian ruler, Abdul Nasser.

Nabulsi on Friday confirmed press reports that the cause of the cabinet crisis was his conflict with Hussein, including the King's dispatch of Bahjat Talbouni, his Chief Palace Chamberlain, to Cairo, Damascus and Riyadh without the cabinet's knowledge. (Reader, UP, Ramallah RJ)

MEIR

(Continued from Page 1)

passage, the withdrawal of her Ambassador and the severing of commercial relations had been understood. Israel had been called "imperialistic and aggressive," and not France nor England, although both these countries "could be said to have greater seniority in these matters," she said.

The fear of a new world war had influenced many nations against Israel's action of self-defense, which "begs the question, as to what should be done against the Egyptian declaration of the right of belligerence, despite U.N. decisions to the contrary, these five years," the Foreign Minister stated. But Israel was not prepared to "take lying down" forever threats of de-escalation, she added. Eban had played a great part in creating this favourable atmosphere, she added.

The right to free passage had been obtained, and none should underestimate its importance, she added. All our political successes had been reached only through "the facts" which are being created day by day within our borders.

The Jordanian authorities did not refuse entrance to any of the pilgrims.

Arab Legionnaires loaded the pilgrims aboard trucks and drove them to Mt. Gerizim.

They are expected to stay a week in Jordan. Before leaving Israel, each pilgrim was given three Jordanian dinars.

The Samaritan Paschal sacrifice was held last night.

Veronica Vitrai Ernst Eliezer Lehmann-JERUSALEM

Married

April 14, 1957.

With deep sorrow we announce the passing away of the head of our family

Shimon Reuven Mandil

The Bereaved Family

April 12, 1957.

The Chairman, Board Members and Staff of the WIZO Mothercraft Training Centre, Tel Aviv

deeply regret the passing of their friend

Bernard Abrahams

of South Africa,

and extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Abrahams.

We announce with deep regret the sudden death of our dear colleague

Mr. Ernst KUCZYNSKI

Management and Staff Jacob Japhet & Co. Ltd.

Haifa Branch

Haifa Branch

Would-Be Killer

Warned Kastner

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — Uriel Segalowitz, 28, of Tel Aviv, appeared before Magistrate Mrs. M. Shamir yesterday for the preliminary investigation of a charge that he had sent threatening letters to the late Israel Kastner.

Police Inspector M. Goldmann read to the court a statement allegedly made by Segalowitz to the police in which the accused admitted sending letters warning Kastner to remain in his house.

"After Dr. Benjamin Halavay handed down his judgment in the Kastner case, establishing his guilt, what I had to do something about it," Segalowitz is said to have told the police.

The accused, who is heard-ary with a skull, followed the hearing keeping his head bowed.

In the statement, the accused related how five months ago he tried to commit suicide by swallowing a large dose of sleeping tablets. After his release from hospital, he was transferred to a mental home where he has been ever since.

Segalowitz said he was a member of Irgun Zvai Leumi in 1947, but did not find his place in the Herut party, as his outlook was more revolutionary than theirs. He joined a group of readers of "Sudam," an ultra-nationalist magazine, and became a member of the "National Youth Front."

In these movements he met Ze'ev Eckstein (now standing trial for the murder of Kastner). He left the "Front" after he had been detained in connection with a bomb-throwing incident at the home of Mr. Israel Rokach, M.K., during the 1955 election campaign.

He had attempted to associate with members of the "Barfand Terrorist" group, including Yacov Heruti, Badian and Yafa Dromi. But he said, they told him to stop thinking about terrorism, and to work for the State.

The accused had written to Kastner: "You are warned by 'Erel Sikra' that it would be better for you to go to prison for life, as suits a war criminal and traitor. If you don't do this, we will kill you. We will kill you anywhere and at any time, signed Erel Sikra."

Segalowitz said in his statement that he had no intention of carrying out the threat.

After Inspector Goldmann finished reading the statement, the accused rose and asked for M. Yacov Heruti to defend him. The magistrate explained that Mr. Heruti was in detention, he could not represent him. The Assistant District Attorney, Mrs. V. Ostrovsky-Cohen, is prosecuting.

The hearing was adjourned until April 23. (Itim)

THE TEL AVIV Municipality on Friday signed a contract with the Alliance Israélite Universelle for the building this year of a Lycee Française on a 28-dunam plot opposite the Ramat Aviv Hotel. The building will cost IL5m.

FOODSTUFFS valued at IL2,000 were stolen on Friday from the central grocery in Kiryat Borchov, Tel Aviv.

FOR STEALING a cow worth IL1,000 from the shed of Moshe Schwarz at Tel Hanan last August, Musa Sud, 21, of Arab Taboun village, was sent to prison for seven months by Haifa District Court Judge E. Slonim last week. The cow was recovered and returned to the owner.

Arson Bid in Tel Aviv Municipality Office

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — An attempt to fire the Engineering Department offices of the Municipality in Rehov Spinoza was foiled on Thursday afternoon. Clerks who saw smoke coming from one of the rooms put out the fire. It is learned from the police that a young man had poured benzine on files in a room on the first floor of the building and then thrown a burning rag onto them. Only slight damage was caused. No arrests have yet been made. (Itim)

JORDAN

(Continued from Page 1)

ed slogans against the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Nabulsi had reported in almost uninterrupted meetings since the resignation of his Cabinet. They were said to have remained firm on their decision of Thursday not to participate in the governments of the earlier Premiers-designate, U.P. reported from Amman that Nabulsi himself had declared he would not take part in any future cabinet, even one headed by Nimr, although the latter's success was interpreted as indicating continuation of Nabulsi's policy of "positive neutrality" as borrowed from the Egyptian ruler, Abdul Nasser.

Nabulsi on Friday confirmed press reports that the cause of the cabinet crisis was his conflict with Hussein, including the King's dispatch of Bahjat Talbouni, his Chief Palace Chamberlain, to Cairo, Damascus and Riyadh without the cabinet's knowledge. (Reader, UP, Ramallah RJ)

MEIR

(Continued from Page 1)

passage, the withdrawal of her Ambassador and the severing of commercial relations had been understood. Israel had been called "imperialistic and aggressive," and not France nor England, although both these countries "could be said to have greater seniority in these matters," she said.

The fear of a new world war had influenced many nations against Israel's action of self-defense, which "begs the question, as to what should be done against the Egyptian declaration of the right of belligerence, despite U.N. decisions to the contrary, these five years," the Foreign Minister stated. But Israel was not prepared to "take lying down" forever threats of de-escalation, she added. Eban had played a great part in creating this favourable atmosphere, she added.

The right to free passage had been obtained, and none should underestimate its importance, she added. All our political successes had been reached only through "the facts" which are being created day by day within our borders.

The Jordanian authorities did not refuse entrance to any of the pilgrims.

Arab Legionnaires loaded the pilgrims aboard trucks and drove them to Mt. Gerizim.

They are expected to stay a week in Jordan. Before leaving Israel, each pilgrim was given three Jordanian dinars.

The Samaritan Paschal sacrifice was held last night.

Veronica Vitrai Ernst Eliezer Lehmann-JERUSALEM

Married

April 14, 1957.

With deep sorrow we announce the passing away of the head of our family

Shimon Reuven Mandil

The Bereaved Family

April 12, 1957.

The Chairman, Board Members and Staff of the WIZO Mothercraft Training Centre, Tel Aviv

deeply regret the passing of their friend

Bernard Abrahams

of South Africa,

and extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Abrahams.

We announce with deep regret the sudden death of our dear colleague

Mr. Ernst KUCZYNSKI

Management and Staff Jacob Japhet & Co. Ltd.

Haifa Branch

Haifa Branch

Newcomers From

India and Persia

LYDDA AIRPORT, Saturday. — A plane from Bombay yesterday brought 88 new Israeli families from Cochin, and one family of Baghdad origin.

A second plane brought 20 immigrants from Persia.

The immigrants were sent to the Sha'ar Aliya camp, before going to development areas. (Itim)

Oil Due in Beersheba At End of the Month

Jerusalem Post Reporter

BEERSHEBA, Saturday. — According to the present schedule, oil will arrive here through the pipeline from Eilat by the last week of April. A second oil tanker is expected in Eilat on April 24.

This was disclosed by Mr. Israel Libortovsky, in charge of the construction of the pipeline, at a lively party held at Mitzpeh Ramon in the Negev last Thursday night for the 150 Mekorot workers who celebrated the completion of their part of the pipeline.

Next day, there was another celebration, further along the pipeline, for the men who had completed the Eilat-Ein-Radion section.

(Itim reports from Eilat that pumping will start tomorrow morning. Seventy tons an hour will be pumped northward in the first stage. The section as far as Ein-Radion will be filled with over 1,200 tons of fuel.)

Mekorot has already begun dismantling its work camps in the southern Negev, prior to moving equipment to Beersheba.

The company plans to start work on the pipeline extension to Ashdot Yam on the Mediterranean coast after the Passover holidays.

Industrial Crops On New Negev Farm

Jerusalem Post Reporter

BEERSHEBA, Saturday. — The Export and Development Company of the Doud Hakvi-met vefakibbushim has established a farm on 5,000 dunams at Hator, in the vicinity of Kibbutz Urim in the Western Negev.

Irrigation will extend over 2,000 dunams, and industrial crops — in particular cotton, sugar and groundnuts — are to be planted.

The company has invested IL250,000 and hopes to provide 30,000 days' work for villages in the region.

Tel Aviv Welcomes Beginning of Summer

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — This week-end's pre-Passover shabbat was welcomed by local residents, who were glad of the opportunity to bare their shoulders and roll up their sleeves.

Rehov Disengoff was entertained last night as many of the boulevard cafes relayed music to their numerous patrons and hundreds of evening strollers.

Today, sea breezes arose to relieve the oppressiveness of thousands strolling along the seashore and Ben-Yehuda, Disengoff and Allenby Roads. The beach was crowded for the first time this year and a few persons were paddling.

The Meteorological Service said tonight that the shabbat would continue tomorrow and probably also on Monday. The hot wave comes from Saudi Arabia, they said.

Clerk Wins Case Against Beersheba Municipality

The Supreme Court sitting as the High Court of Justice on Friday made absolute an order nisi against the Beersheba Municipality.

Mr. Y. Shavit, appearing for the applicant, Mr. Leon Yanai, 35, a Municipal clerk, said that the Municipality had retired Mr. Yanai on pension after he had refused dismissal with compensation. The Municipality had claimed he was unsuited to any post it could offer.

The Municipality was ordered to pay IL75 costs.

The Court was composed of Justices Agranat, Silberg and Berenson. (Itim)

3 ARRESTS IN GEM ROBBERY

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — Six persons have been arrested as suspects in last Wednesday's $200,000 gem robbery.

After Mr. Yitzhak Barzilai, the diamond merchant involved, had described to investigators the appearance of his attackers in the diamond bourse here, the police picked up six men on Thursday night.

(Itim)

Samaritans Offer Paschal Lamb

Jerusalem Post Reporter

A total of 120 persons, almost the entire Samaritan community of Israel, crossed into Jordan at Mandelbaum Gate in Jerusalem on Friday morning to celebrate Passover on Mt. Gerizim, near Shechem (Nablus).

The Jordanian authorities did not refuse entrance to any of the pilgrims.

Arab Legionnaires loaded the pilgrims aboard trucks and drove them to Mt. Gerizim.

They are expected to stay a week in Jordan. Before leaving Israel, each pilgrim was given three Jordanian dinars.

The Samaritan Paschal sacrifice was held last night.

Veronica Vitrai Ernst Eliezer Lehmann-JERUSALEM

Married

April 14, 1957.

With deep sorrow we announce the passing away of the head of our family

Shimon Reuven Mandil

The Bereaved Family

April 12, 1957.

The Chairman, Board Members and Staff of the WIZO Mothercraft Training Centre, Tel Aviv

deeply regret the passing of their friend

Bernard Abrahams

of South Africa,

and extend their deepest sympathy to Mrs. Abrahams.

Money Found On

Trees in Rishon

RAMLEH, Saturday. — Some IL1,500 in notes suddenly appeared in a Rishon 1200 street on Thursday night. Their owner was fast asleep, but hundreds of other people came out of their houses and scrambled after the notes which were scattered all over the street and were wafted into the trees.

The incident occurred when a group of children waiting for their parents who were attending a wedding, clambered onto a cart belonging to David Schmutz, 27, a peanut vendor of the Hamizrach quarter.

A four-year-old child discovered the money in a tin can, and quite unaware of their value, threw the bits of paper into the air.

The money was finally collected and returned to Mr. Schmutz by the Ness Ziona police.

Hagan To Be Freed At End of Month

Mary Frances Hagan, the 26-year-old American woman who was sentenced by the Jerusalem District Court last October 11, to a year's imprisonment for spying on behalf of Syria, will be released shortly before the end of the month. It was learned last night. She will have served two-thirds of her sentence — which began with her arrest.

El-Anthony Trial Ends

The trial of Archbishop Joachim El-Anthony, former head of the Coptic Community in Israel, for espionage, ended on Friday in the Jerusalem District Court.

No date has been fixed for the verdict.

YOUTH'S LIFE TERM TO BE REVIEWED

The life imprisonment imposed on a 19-year-old shepherd boy of Umm el-Zinat for the murder of Nir Eylon, last year, was annulled on Friday by the Supreme Court in line with the new law governing sentences on juveniles.

The case was returned to the lower court where sentence is to be passed again, in accordance with the amended law. (Itim)

Boy Killed, Another Hurt on Haifa Road

HAIFA, Saturday. — Four-year-old Amnon Cohen was killed instantly when a truck knocked him down at Karkur's new quarter on Thursday afternoon. The driver was detained.

Arvel Raphaeli, 9, of Heph-ziba, was critically injured when an army car driven by a senior officer ran him down near Km. 50 on the Haifa-Tel Aviv highway on the same day. The boy was crossing the road behind a stationery bus. He was taken to the Rambam Hospital. The officer was released on bond.

Scandinavian Church Services for Eilat

The Scandinavian Seamen's pastor in Israel, the Reverend Per Faye Hansen, and the hostess of the Church, Miss Gunnaug Lauten, visited Eilat last week and extended the services of the Scandinavian Church in Haifa to sailors aboard Scandinavian ships calling at Eilat.

The reverend also gave a lecture to the crew of the Brigitte Toft.

The minister also visited the Swedish specialist working in the granite quarries near the Egyptian border.

Arrangements were made for future services for Scandinavian sailors in Eilat.

JERUSALEM CUTS EMERGENCY TAX

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The Jerusalem Municipality Council on Friday approved a ten per cent emergency surtax (2.5 per cent less than last year) to be paid on the 1957/58 rates.

Rates paid during the current months will be credited with a 7.5 per cent reduction; those paid next month will receive five per cent reduction.

Trudl Knopfmacher RAMOT HASHAVIM again accepts

CHILDREN during the summer vacations this year

Swiss at Peace Because Ready for War: Hegg

Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — The peace which Switzerland has enjoyed for the past 150 years stems not so much from the natural preference of the Swiss for quiet living, but from the fact that her neighbours realized the price of an attack. Dr. Fritz Hegg, the outgoing Swiss Minister, said yesterday in an address to the Commercial and Industrial Club.

The remark was prompted by a recent humorous sketch by Dahn Ben-Amotz in the Jerusalem Post, in which the writer said he envied the Swiss their 70 years of peace and neutrality.

Neutrality, Dr. Hegg said, "could also be maintained because Switzerland's neighbours knew they would be up against a wall if they tried to violate it."

Peace, Dr. Hegg said, could hardly be achieved through intellectual effort. In seeking peace, no pre-established pattern could be followed, and every country must provide its own answers as to what to do in order to achieve it.

Dr. Hegg, who has been posted to Budapest, and the Canadian Charge d'Affaires, Mr. George Kidd, and the American Consul, Clarence McFotach, who are leaving shortly on the completion of their tour of duty, were given mementos of the Club.

Last Thursday, Dr. Hegg took leave of the Rotary Club here, whose honorary member he is, saying the three years he had spent in Israel were "the most interesting in my career."

O.B.G. LOCK-OUT, STRIKE ENDED

TEL AVIV, Saturday. — O.B.G. tailors shops will reopen tomorrow following the signing of an agreement yesterday between management and labour in the offices of the Labour Ministry arbitrators.

The two-day close-down had resulted from a fortnight's strike of the tailors, which later spread to the clerks.

The agreement grants the employees a wage rise and payment of the "frozen third" for this year, and last. Outstanding questions in dispute will be settled by an independent arbitration committee, which is to present its conclusions by April 30.

Namir Picks Labour Relations Council

A 31-man Labour Relations Council has been appointed by the Minister of Labour, Mr. Mordecai Namir, to provide for the Labour Disputes Law.

Members of the Council are divided equally between employers and labourers. The Minister acts as Chairman.

